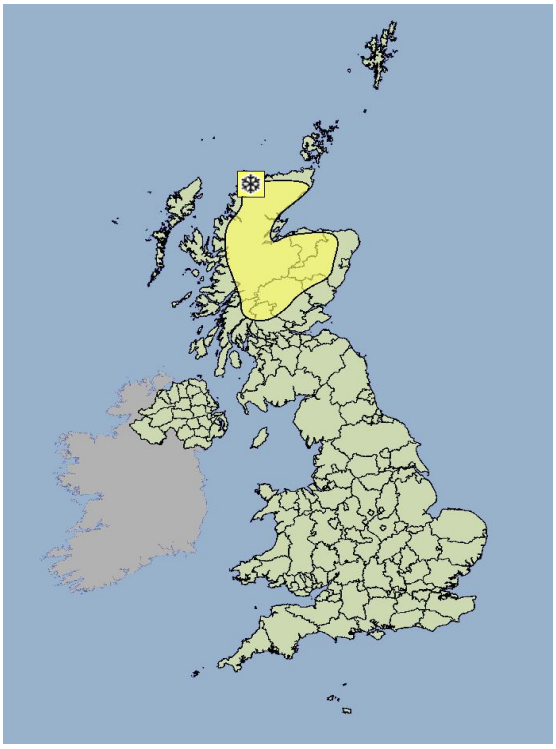
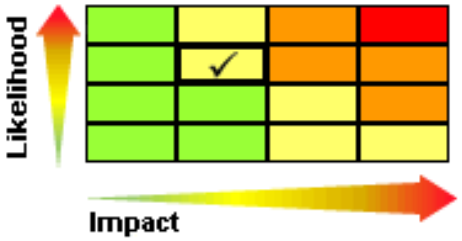
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
Snow is expected to develop across parts of Scotland early on Thursday. Snow is likely to become heavy and persistent for a time on Thursday morning before easing and pushing away eastwards during the early afternoon. 2-5 cm of snow is likely for many parts with 10 cm above around 250 m and up to 20 cm over the highest ground.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Snow

Valid from 00:05 on Thu, 23rd Nov 2017 until 13:00 on Thu, 23rd Nov 2017

An area of snow is expected to affect parts of northern Scotland on Wednesday night and into Thursday morning.

Some roads and railways are likely to be affected with longer journey times by road, bus and train services.

This is an update to bring forward the start time of the warning.
